

DoubleTree Suites Hotel Houston by the Galleria

Houston is known for its oil and gas industry as well as being the world's leading producer of oilfield equipment. The city is home to more than 5,000 energy-related establishments, including many of the top oil and gas exploration and production firms and petroleum pipeline operators. The discovery of oil near Houston in 1901 led to its first growth spurt. Houston is headquarters for 17 energy-related Fortune 500 companies, home to 13 of the nation's 20 largest natural gas transmission companies, 600 exploration and production firms, and more than 170 pipeline operators. Oil and natural gas production is powering the Texas economy and responsible for transforming the Houston community on a continual basis.

We understand the needs of guests who travel to Houston to work with the city's energy companies. Whether your visit is as a consultant, employee, corporate partner or conference attendee, the DoubleTree Suites by Hilton Houston by the Galleria offers amenities and services that make you feel at home. Retreat to the comfort of one of our spacious rooms and suites. Our attentive staff is here to help you.
